Augustus Holmes of these facts.

Mr. Wait now proceeded to cross-examine Mr. Harris, after he had dentified the handwriting of his wife in several letters. I had very little when I first embarked in business; Mr. Goorge W. Brown went into business with me in 1844; I was acquainted with Mrs. Harris two or three years before marriage; never had any intention of marriage until six months before; I went to Boston on my nuptial tour, and stayed at the Tremont House; we were married on the 8th of May, and our first child was born on the 24th of January; previous to the latter date Mrs. Harris saked me to go for a physicion; I remarked to Dr. Porter, after the child was born, that when I went for him I did not think it was time for the birth of the child; the docor said it was nothing unusual; I might have spoken of the matter before members of the family; my wife's father died in 1848, leaving her a little over five thousand dollars, payable at five fundred dollars a year; it is now on my books to the credit of my wife; this money aided materially in building up my future business prosperity, as I used it for that purpose; there is about four thousand still to her own credit on my books; when stopping at the Howard House in New York Mr. Brown came to me and charged me with some.

TASTIMONY OF RELEWS DAVIS.

Blien Davis sworn—I live at present with Mr. Harris; I have been there about a week; formerly lived with Mr. B. F. Brown; was with Mr. Harris in 1860 and remained until 1862; saw Mr. F. Miner and Mr. Maurice Bacon at the house, I let the gentlemen in; recoilect bringing the boots of Mrs. Harris up stairs on one occasion; went up the back stairs, when I heard the door bell; I left the boots on the stairs and went to the door; Mr. Frederick Miner, Mr. Maurice Bacon, Mr. Frank Chappel, Miss Louisa Biydenburgh and Miss Emily Edmunds came in; Mrs. Harris and Miss Funite came down; about half an hour after remembered that I had not taken Mrs. Harris' boots up stairs; I took them up, and went to the first door that enters into the hall leading to Mrs. Harris' toom, opened it, and Mr. Frederick Miner came out; he seemed to be excited; I went into the room and saw Mrs. Harris at the washstand; she was very anyry, and asked me why I did not knock at the door before I entered; I answered, saying that she never asked me to do so before.

After some further unimportant testimony this witness testiled that on another occasion she saw Mr. Frederick Miner kiss Mrs. Harris in the parlor, while they were both alone.

MR. HARRIS' CHOSS-RYAMINATION CONTINCED.

Understood that Mr. Charles H. Barnes was the party known in the Trotwood's Association by the name of "Betsy;" occupied the same stateroom with Mrs. Harris to on the steamboat to New York in November, 1863; stopped at the Astor House, and occupied the same room with Mrs. Harris there; this was after the trouble with Major Williams; he left in June previous; the letters of Mrs. Harris to him had come into my possession months before this period.

Mrs. Harris to him had come into my possession months before this period.

Mr. Harris to him had come into my possession months before this period.

Mr. Harris here produced books as proof of his financial condition. This evidence was similar to that of yesterday. He had debited Mrs. Harris many articles of clothing she had had, and among them the cash paid for an expensive chart; ale had threatened him that unless he furnished the funds to pay for the same she would borrow the money from Colonel Loomis.

Re-direct—Witness had Miss Douglas' bill for dress-making for Mrs. Harris from April up to the present shime; it amounted to $252; Mrs. Harris expenses for dresses for berself and children in one year amounted to about $1,500; there is suit pending against me at present, brought by Mr. Geo. W. Brown; he chius $52,000, with fatorest, the whole amounting to $78,000, as due him from his partnership with me; this suit is pending in New York; I don't owe one cent on this claim.

To Mr. Halsey—I entertained a great deal of company at my house; some that I knew and some that I did not know—(laughter)—I entertained the naval committee when they came on here; kept a carriage and pair of horses.

THE TURF.

Fashion Course, L. I .- Trotting. The trotting match between the Bashaw mare Ella erwood and the Hambletonian gelding Shark, two mile heats, for $2,000, at the Fashion Course, yesterdy, was a most exciting and spirited affair. Ella won in a short rubber in most capital time—5:08½ and 5:11—which is much better in the aggregate than she made in her two mile race with Toronto Chief. The track was heavy, and a pretty strong wind was blowing, which had its effect on the progress of both horses. Shark made a brilliant finish at the end of the second heat, but was unsuccessful in reaching the mare. She beat him a least the affar a very close second and the second heat him a second him a second him a second heat him a second heat him a second him a second him a second heat him a second heat him a second him a second

Ella made the distance three lengths between them, and at the quarter pole she had increased it to five, as her pace had been much sharpened when she started into the second mile. Going down the backstretch the mare kept up her beautiful stride, and while passing the old stand also was six lengths in front of Shark. As they entered the turn of the Flushing end Pfler shook Shark up, and he began shutting up the gap gradually, and at the three-quarter pole was less than four lengths behind, and still gaining inch by inch. He made a stout attempt to overtake the mare, but it was ineffectual, and she trotted gamely up the stretch and landed at the score a winner by two lengths, making the last mile in 2:33 and the heat in 5:03½.

Second Heat.—One bunded to twenty was offered on Ella, with very few takers. The horses again had an oven start, the mare dashing away from the gelding and opening a gap around the turn of three lengths, as this seemed her favorite spot for extending herself. She led four lengths to the quarter pole, in thirty-nine seconds, Shark appearing at times to dwell in his stride. Going down the backstretch he trotted more evenly, and shat up some of the daylight. Ella passed the half-mile pole two lengths and a half in front, in 1:17½. On the Flushing end they trotted stendily, the gelding getting a little closer, as the mare seemed to slacken her pace somewhat. At the three-quarter pole Ella led a length and a half, and she came on the homestretch with Shark's nose at her wheel. Coming up the homestretch Shark forced the pace, but still the mare kept him at her wheel, and came up and crossed the score with some daylight between them. The mile was made in 2:38. Going around the turn. Getting into straight work on the backstretch and both doing their best Shark closed gradually, and was only two longths and a half hebind at the half-mile pole. Rounding into the Flushing stretch Ella Sherwood broke up, but after three jumps she landed with her right foot foremost and went on without losing a yard by

On Tuesday the fall race meeting of the Passaic Association will commence at Paterson and continue three days, with four races each day. In the steeple chase, which will come off on the second day, there are seven entries, viz:—Zizzag, Coprek, M. D., Lanigan, Nightlock, Nannie Craddock and Garry Onldis. These horses are also entered in the hurdle race.

OLYMPIC GAMES. There is to be a novelty introduced on the Fashion Course, Long Island, on Wednesday next. The usual trotting matches for which that course is celebrated are to be varied by a grand chariot race the Senorita Marie Martinez and Miss Virginia Mason being the charioteers. Solom Shingle in Liverpool.

(From the Liverpool Porcupine, Sept. 16.)

The man who the other day found a smail diamond among a heap of rubbish which had been cast out from a graving dock is not reported to have talked much about the rubbish itself. His thoughts were centred on his treasure. He went to the heap, as many others beside him did, expecting at most to be rewarded, after a good deal of labor, by finding a few copper mails. The diamond unexpectedly turned up, and so pleased and delighted was he with his good fortune that in all probabinty he forget altosether the character of the rubbish in which it was imbedded, and could not tell what sort of sticks or sweepings surrounded it. He did not dig for diamonds every day, and if he did he must often have been disappointed; but this one fashed upon him as unexpectedly as it was agreeable, and he went sway rejoicing, and did not abuse the heap.

The playgoer who is in any way worthy of the name-for in these days there are many pretenders to the distinction—will, after seeing "Solon Shingle" at the Prince of Wales theatre, come away in a similar frame of mind to the man who so unexpectedly found the diamond. The place is a heap of rubbish, utterly setting at definee all rules of dramatic construction, and devoid of the elightest probability, indeed abounding with absurdity. The characters, with one exception, have in them scarcely anything to commend themselves to the feeling or asympathy of any audience. The gentlemen who sustain these display such mean ability as to render what little they have to say or do barely endurable; and yet the performance draws forth the most general bursts of applause, creates laughter which can hardly be subdued, and produces an amount of enthachasm which we have, dering the last thirty years, rarely seen equalled for its entirely and warm.

This is entirely due to the acting of Mr. J. E. Owens, a gentleman whom we are gi

THE IRON-CLAD MIANTONOMAH.

The deuble turreted iron-clad Miantonomah sailed yesterday on her sea trial trip, escorted by the United States gunboat Boxer, Lieutenant Commander H. H. Gorringe She will proceed first to Fortress Monroe, and if everything works well she will proceed further South. Admiral C. H. Bell and Captain A. M. Pennock, United States Navy, accompanied the Miantonomah down the bay, where they left her to return to this city. She was staaming eight knots per hour. It is confidently expected that she will steam between nine and ten knots when her machinery has been sufficiently tried.

Admiral Bell made a friendly visit and paid his re-spects to Secretary Seward yesterday at the residence of R. M. Blatchford, in this city. The Admiral invited the Secretary to visit the Navy Yard.

THE ALGONQUIN VS. WINGOSKI. THE ALGONQUIN VS. WINGOSEI.

The next trial between the double-end gunboats Algonquin and Wingoski will take place in about ten days. It will be a sea trial of a distance of two hundred miles and upwards. The affair has been delayed beyond the time it was first expected, owing to the fact that the Algonquin was very much damaged by the excessive steam carried on the boilers during the late trial. Both vessels have a supply of coal for the trip. The Algonquin is now being caulked and otherwise got in readiness.

Lieutenant Commander Norton, executive officer of the sloop-of-war Brooklyn, has been detached.

award of the contract for the building of the market for the Eighteenth ward has been somewhat delayed by a few alterations which had to be made in the original plans of the architect, thereby necessitating the revisal of some of the bids of the contractors. The opening of the bids took place at the office of Mr. Hayward, 22 Delancey street, before the Commissioners, Benjamin F. Manniere, John N. Hayward and Jacob H. Gamble, the lowest estimate to be the successful contractor. The lowest estimate, out of eighteen bids, being that of Charles Vandevoort, to complete the building for seventy-two thousand three hundred and seventy-eight dollars, was accepted by the Commissioners. The plans and specifications have been prepared by Mr. S. D. Hatch. The building will have a frontage on avenue C of one hundred and ferty-seven feet on Sixteenth street, extending to Seventeenth street. Its walls will be built of brick, trimmed with stone, and the front on avenue C will be surtaounted by a cupola and flagstaff, below which, on marble tablets, will be inscribed the names of the Commissioners and the date of crection. The examination of Messra. Bortholic & Isaacson, mer chants doing business at 40 Nassau street, who were arrested some weeks since on suspicion of receiving a large amount of goods alleged to have been stolen by James Wright, late a clerk in the employ of Mr. Prederick Booss, of 44 Maiden lane, took place before Justice Mansseld, of the Essex Market Police Gourt.

Mr. Booss, being called to the stand, testified that the Sefundants had been in his employ in years past. He had missed goods' from his store between the 9th of October, 1864, and the 18th of April, 1868, to the amount of over $10,000. A portion of the articles stolen were found in the possession of Bortholic, at his residence, 46 Henry street, and others in detendants' store, 60 Nassau street. Bortholic admitted to the witness that he had, previous to Christmas last, bought from Wright $4,000 worth of furs, silks and tassels, the property of Mr. Booss, for which he paid him $1,500. Isaacson also admitted to the witness that the goods found had been stolen from him (Mr. Booss). Isaac son also stated that he had taken the books of the firm to Stein's, 57 Broad street, where they were subsequently found. Mr. Stein said the books had been left with him for the purpose of balancing. Isaacson also admitted to the witness that he and Bortholic had ripped them to Saugerties, from which place they had been returned to this city at various times and sold to parties in New York. At this time they (the defendants) had in their possession goods which had been given them by the witness to make up. On asking Isaacson from whom the goods had been bought he said he did not dare to tell. This was at the Seventeenth precinct station house. Isaacson said that he had often thought of going around to see the witness, confess all and sak forgiveness, but that he had not the heart to do it. Frederick Stein, of 77 Powers street, Brooklyn, and other witnesses were examined, but the case was not concluded.

The Jewish Foast of Tabernacles.

The festival of Succoth, one of the three most important holidays of the Jewish year, commenced at sunand Friday of this week. The origin of the feast is ex plained in Leviticus xxiii:-

seventh month shall be the feast of tabernacies for seven days unto the Lord. On the first day there shall be a holy convocation. Ye shall do no strike work therein. Seven days ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord; on the eighth day shall be a holy convocation unto you, and ye shall offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord; it is a solemn assembly, and ye shall do no service work therein. These are the feasts of the Lord, which ye shall proclaim to be holy convocations to offer an offering made by fire unto the Lord, a bourt offering, and are meat offering, a sacrifice and drink offerings, everything upon this day; besides the sabbaths of the Lord, and besides your gifts, and besides all your vows, and besides all your free will offering which ye give unto the Lord. Also in the 15th day of the seventh month, when ye have gathered in the irunt of the land, ye shall keep a feast unto the Lord seven days; on the first day shall be a Sabbath, and on the eighth day shall be a Sabbath. And ye shall take you on the first day the boughs of goodly trees, branches of paim trees, and willows of the brook, and ye shall rejoice before the Lord your God seven days; an the year. It shall be a statute forever in your generations; ye shall chebrate it in the seventh month; ye shall dwell in the booths seven days; all that are Israelites born shall dwell in booths that your generations may know that I made the children of Israel to dwell in booths when I brought them out of the land of Egypt; I am the Lord your God.

Here are to be found the two distinct commandments given for the observance of the festival. First, the purpose of prayer and commemoration) four species of the vegetable kingdom. Tradition requires the use of the the vegetable kingdom. Tradition requires the use of the fruit of the tree Hadar, of the citron, and of paim leaves, myrties and brook willows. The first commandment, ordering the nation to dwell in booths, gives the name to the festival. The nation to dwell in booths, gives the name to the festival. The nation to dwell in booth, must be erected under the open sky. It must not be completely roofed in or covered with any solid material, but is to be arched in such a manner as to somit a view of the firmsment and stars. During the continuation of the festival it was of old imperative to dwell in the success, and take all meals under its shelter, but the strict observance of this law has long since been ignored, and, although some few isracites erect booths in the rear of their dwellings, the majority simply attend the services at the synagogues, at the conclusion of the ceremonies, the congregation leaving the main building and partiaking of fruits and consecrated bread in the ophemeral offices erected outside. The general intention of the law being to liberate man from the slavery of his earthly passions, and to transform the bondage into obedience to the will of Beaven, the commandments were given and destined to remind him at harvest time, and amid the greatest prosperity, that he is but a solourner in this world. He is therefore taught to shandon the roof of his abode, with all lits riches, comforts and incentives to terrestrial passions, and resign himself to contemplation. His booth admits the view of the sky and stare through its frail covering, that that the tenant may be reminded of his creator.

The festival, which was inaugurated on Wednesday last at sundown, was observed throughout he city with decided zeal. The synagogues were well attended, each being provided with a succal erected in the court yard without. The new congregation Darech Amuno, worshipping in Greene street, dedicated to Divine service a magnificent structure of the kind, while most of the other houses of prayer were content to rebuild occasion to send bim an official document; and to this I appended a few lines, expressing in strong language my disapprobation of certain recent acts committed in his diocese. These acts, let me now say, I am constrained to disapprove. In the first place, because I cannot but consider them as direct violations of our canon law; and secondly, on the ground of their inexpediency. Fraternal union with Christians, and Christian ministers, of other bodies, in institutions for the dissemination of the Scriptures and of Scriptural knowledge, is what I have always found the highest huppiness in cultivating; and that exclusiveness which denies to all non-Spiscopal churches the claim to recognition I cannot find in our Prayer Book, and with it I have not the slightest sympathy. But that part of our legislation which plainly requires that all who officiate in our congregations shall be ministers of our Church is a regulation to which no reasonable objection can be made by any one, and strict obedience to it is, as it seems to me, essentially necessary to the purity and safety of our communion. Faithfully yours, Boorow, Oct 2, 1865.

of the Diocese of Indians, was referred to the Committee on Consecration of Bishops.

The Rev. J. H. Aupstern, of Winsted, Connecticut, presented a gnemorial asking permission of the Convention to omit from the Micene cased carrier words which have been interpolated in the said creed since the holding of the Great Micene Geuncil. Referred to the Com-tion for the appointment of a committee to consider the causes relating to admission to the ministry, with a

A message was received from the House of Bishops relative to the conduct of Archbishop Gray, of Cape Town, in South Africa, in the defection of the so-called heresy of Bishop Colemo, of Natal, and congratulating Archbishop Gray on his action in said affair.

A message was received from the House of Bishops in forming the Convention "that the House of Bishops is satisfied that the Rev. Richard Hooker Wilmer, D. D., has been validly consecrated to the office of Bishop, having been elected to the errecise of that office in the vacant Diocese of Alabama, and that without an examination of the circumstances occasioning certain canonical irregularities in the election and consecration, and expressly declaring that its present action shall never be construed or accepted as a precedent, this House hereby accepts the Right Rev. Dr. Wilmer as Bishop of Alabama, and consents to his episcopate as such, provided that the House of Clorical and Lay Deputies is willing to signify its concurrence in such acceptance and consent, and that thereafter the Bishop of Alabama shall transmit in writing to the presiding bishop, to be by him committed to the custody of the register of this House, the promise of conformity comprised in the office for the consecration of bishops in the ordinal."

After a long discussion on the proposed new canon relative to clergymen entering the military or naval service the Convention adjourned.

Seventh regiment, National Guard, was on Tuesday evening last the scene of a very pleasant reunion. After the usual routine of business had been con-cluded, Mr. Henry H. Morange, in behalf of the mem complimentary resolutions, most artistically executed complimentary resolutions, most artistically executed and set in a massive frame neatly ornamented. The Captain responded in a very happy speech.

The company then adjourned to the adjoining drill room, where the flowing bowl and the electerasi were spread. Speeches were made by Captains Bird and Ford, Morange, Walke, Haws, Lieutenant Jacoban and others, and songs enlivened the time to a late hour. The committee, consisting of Messrs, Walke, Cadwell and Morange, deserve credit for the handsome manner in which the testimonial was got up.
